

In a world where magic was forbidden, a young girl discovered a glowing stone. Secretly, she learned its powers, dreaming of freedom. On the eve of her escape, she vanished, leaving only whispers of a revolution sparked by a single stone.